

What can you do in the park?

Sightseeing and nature study

Spectacular natural beauty and adventure can be explored surrounding the Park area, especially in the Hatgal and the Hankh area. You can learn about park resources, explore nature trails near the lake and talk to the local rangers about the environment.

Camping

Hiking

Biking

Boating

Horseback riding

Fishing

How to get to here?

You can reach the destination either by a plane or a car. By plane, it takes 90 minutes flight from Ulaanbatar, the capital city to Murun and 68 miles drive from Murun to the village of the Hatgal at the Park's southern entrance.

You can drive the entire 553 miles from Ulaanbaatar city.

Entry fees are collected seasonally at entrance stations located near the Hatgal and north of the Hanh soum.

KHUVSGUL LAKE NATIONAL PARK

Welcome to one of the most fascinating travel destinations in Mongolia!

БАЙГАЛЬ ОРЧИН, НОГООН ХЭГЖИЛ,
АЯЛАЛ ЖУУЛЧЛАЛЫН ЯАМ

Khuvsgul Lake

Khuvsgul - referred as “The Blue Pearl”- is the largest fresh water lake in Mongolia with the area of 1,715 square miles. The lake is located in northwestern Mongolia near the Russian border. It spreads 85 miles long and holds 70% of Mongolia’s fresh water. The Lake is surrounded by several mountain ranges. In winter the lake surface completely freezes.

Khuvsgul Lake National Park

This pristine beauty of Khuvsgul Lake National Park is larger than Yellowstone Park. It covers 1,180,270 hectares of land where the Central Asian Steppe meets the Siberian Taiga. This outstanding Park is home to a variety of plants, trees, and wildlife.

Our mission

To maintain its sacred landscape of water and mountains, to preserve rare and endangered animal and plant species and to keep and sustain the Park for future generations.

Diverse Landscape

Khuvs gul Lake National Park Map